FAILS TO DECIDE NAVAL DISPUTE

Committee Divides on Partisan Lines Over Daniels-Sims Row

SCORES DANIELS

Minority Upholds Administration and Denounce Admiral Sims Saying His Charge is "Monsterous"

Washington, July 18.—Widely conflicting views regarding direction of the American Navy during the early months of the war were detailed in Republican and Democratic reports made public today, of the Senate Naval Committee's investigation of controversies between former Secretary Daniels and Rear-Admiral William S. Sims. The reports constitute the last chapter in the famous Sims-Daniels controversy of May, 1920, caused by Rear-Admiral Sims' letter, sharply criticizing the Daniels war administration.

Mr. Daniels, former President Wilson and Rear-Admiral W. S. Benson, former chief of operations, were scored severely in the majority Republican report, which charged many sins of omission and commission in naval war direction. These officials were as stoutly defended and as highly praised in the minority Democratic report. Admiral Sims was commended by the majority and assailed by the minority.

"A self-defensive nonaggrective and nonhelpful policy" was imputed to the Democratic Administration by the majority report which also charged many serious delays in navy operations resulted. The minority found that "uniform success of our operations amply demonstrated the wisdom of the policies adopted and the plans carried out by the Navy Department," and "instead of censure of criticism, the department, as well as the service, deserves the hearty commendation of this committee and of the American people."

Senators Hale, of Maine; Ball, Delaware, and Keyes, New Hampshire, signed the Republican majority report and Senators Pittman of Nevada and Trammell, Florida, the Democratic minority. Each report makes a separate volume, embracing detailed review of testimony from scores of witnesses during the naval subcommittee's inquiry of May, 1920.

Two recommendations were made by the majority for appointment of a professional commission of naval officers to study and apply to the American navy lessons of the world war and for a Presidential commission, including civilians, to study and recommend reforms in navy organization. No recommendations were presented by the minority.

The investigation resulted from reading by Admiral Sims, during committee inquiry more than a year ago onto his controversy with Mr. Daniels over naval awards of distinguished service decorations, of his letter to Mr. Daniels, written January 7, 1920 charging the Navy Department with numerous delays and deficiencies in directing naval warfare. Many specific recommendations for future navy activities as "lessons of the war" were made by Admiral Sims who was in chief command of naval operations overseas during the war.

Admiral Sims' principal charge that Administrative delays were estimated to have cost 500,000 lives and $15,000,000,000 unnecessarily was discussed in both reports.

"The conclusion seems inevitable that had these delays in naval operations not occurred, the American Expeditionary Forces might have brought about an Allied victory earlier than they actually did," said the majority report, "but the extent to which these delays failed to shorten the war is altogether conjectural."

The minority report described the Sims charges as "monstrous" and "without foundations,' 'and added:

"Admiral Sims failed absolutely to produce any evidence to sustain this serious charge. The evidence shows beyond a shadow of doubt that the army was transported abroad as fast as it was ready, that the submarines did not sink our transports and that munitions and supplies for our army

Comedy In Court

Ida Hawkins Some Talker—Lottie Cox Complainant

All speed regulations for talking were thrown aside in the police court this morning when Ida Hawkins, colored, was arraigned to answer a charge of disorderly conduct preferred by her neighbor, Lottie Fox. The Hawkins woman apparently had talking machines outdistanced and she kept the court attaches in convulsions of laughter as she endeavored to describe her side of the case. The first inning was had by Lottie Fox. Lottie told about Ida and described Ida as being "Simply terrible." All of the neighbors declared Lottie being scared of Ida. Lottie also told the court that Ida accused her of going to the grave yard to "Get Graveyard dirt" Lottie informed the court that this was not altogether to truth. In conclusion Lottie declared a brick was hurled by Ida at Lottie's husband as he sat on his step.

When Ida took the stand she shook her fist and vehemently denied all of the accusations made against her. The court acquitted Ida but told her that the next time she was arraigned it would put both in the same cell. The woman appeared terrified at this statement and when she left police headquarters she raised both hands and let out a yell and started on a run like a deer.

Holds Up Cashier

Bandit Gets $1,000 From Washington Bank Today

Washington, D. C., July 18.—In the role of a "lone wolf," a bandit today at noon walked into the People's Commercial and Savings Bank, 3608 Georgia avenue northwest, held up the cashier, Ernest S. Brown, and made away with more than $1,000 in ten and twenty-dollar bank notes.

"Shell out all the tens and twenties you have and don't pull any monkey business, because I have a fiend outside who is a better shot than I am," the bandit told Brown when he leveled his automatic at him.

Brown obeyed the young desperado In the excitement he does not remember how much of the bank's funds he parted with.

As the bandit backed out of the door, stuffing the bills in his pocket with his left hand and covering Brown with the automatic in his right, Brown reached for his own automatic.

A shot from Brown's revolver followed the bandit as he dashed down Georgia avenue in the direction of Otis place, one block away. Brown believes the shot took effect.

It was reported to the police that the bandit got away in an automobile that was standing on Otis place just off the avenue. He drove away in the general direction of New Hampshire avenue.

Chautauqua Closes

Alexandria's third Chautauqua came to a very successful close last night when the churches of the city united in the closing session. A large crowd had assembled when the ministers and the Chautauqua Superintendent, Rev. Joseph Shubert, who preached the sermon of the evening seated themselves on the platform.

Edward E. Dunn led the congregational singing with Mrs. Stephen Field at the piano. After prayer the Scripture reading by Dr. John Lee Allison and prayer by Dr. E. B. Jackson ,the White Hussars gave several splendid vocal and instrumental selections.

Rev. Shubert's talk was based on the Old Testament story of Daniel in the lion's den, which he interpreted in a strictly modern sense with scholarly simplicity and yet with telling force. The Chautauqua closed with the benediction by Dr. D. H. Martin of the Trinity M. E. church.

Alexandrians will be glad to know that the return of Chautauqua for another season has now been practically assured by securing of a list of guarantors which now numbers sixty-one. Other names may still be added and the secretary, Mrs. Harry B. Caton, will be glad to know of those desiring to be associated with this project and will forward their names to the Chautauqua Association.

Girl Scouts

To Make Plans Tomorrow For Camping Trip

All Girl Scouts of Alexandria are earnestly requested to be present at a called meeting of the troop on Tuesday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, at St. Paul's Parish Hall. Wouldn't you like to go on a big camping trip if you were a girl scout? And don't you want a dapper looking uniform? This called meeting is to tell how the troop is to get both, and every girl scout should hear all about it. Captain Captain Jones would li ket oese Jones would like to see everybody there, as it has become necessary to limit the troop. At present, a great number. If you are unable to come on the rolls, of members who do not attend regularly. Since there is a long list of waiting girls anxious to join and enthusiastic about scout work, it is proposed that all members, who have been absent for two or more meetings, and who do not report either in person or by note at this called meeting, be dropped from the troop roster. If you are unable to come because of sickness of because you are out of town, send in a note of excuse, either by some other scout, or by mail to Captain E. P. Jones, 1006 Prince St. It is soon planned to go out camping, at the close of the summer school—hence only interested and five scouts are to be kept on the rolls.

Alexandria In 1774

The unpopular stamp act was never enforced in Virginia George Mercer who was appointed stamp agent refused his commission, yet there arose great dissatisfaction with the home government. Washington and Mason were the delegates to the House of Burgesses from Fairfax County. When Governor Dunmore arrived in 1770 and the Raleigh Tavern at Williamsburg became the rendevous for the disaffected. A committee of associates was formed and adopted resolutions drawn up by George Mason against the importation of British goods. In his diary Washington writes frequently of these meetings and the discussions held with his friends at Alexandria. The little town was now becoming a center of business and trade, and needed more expansion which had to be authorized by the Virginia Assembly. But the governor enraged by the trend of affairs dissolved the Assembly which was destined never to meet again. The influence of Patrick Henry was felt everywhere and Washington, Mason and Broadwater were his able supporters at Alexandria where great excitement was brought each day to the people. A day of prayer was observed early in June 1774, for it became evident that the British Government was resolved on co-ertion and united action upon the part of the colonies seemed the only path to safety. A meeting of all tree holders was called for the 18th, July and George Mason was asked to formulate the necessary resolutions. At this time there were but few toutes here, but Fairfax the devoted friend of Washington was one of these, and on learning of the projected meeting he wrote Washington entreating that no decided step be taken and councilled abandonment of all ideas of forcible resistance. Washington did not read this letter until after the meeting and then wrote Fairfax "No person present would have been in the least disposed to adopt your sentiments."

On Monday, July 18th, 1774, that most memorable day in Alexandria history, the freeholders and inhabitants of the town and the county of Fairfax gathered at the little court house on Fairfax street on the market square to protest against the continuance of British tyranny.

George Washington of Mount Vernon, presided, Robert Harrison, as secretary, read the resolves prepared by George Mason of Gunston, in which proclamation was made to the assembled multitude of their solemn determination to resist to the uttermost the tyranny of the British government. This followed twenty-five resolutions which were subscribed by all present and which are too lengthy to be given here. Yet a few will be quoted as seeming of peculiar interest to the present generation, which may learn what their ancestors did on that July day when the war cloud was hovering so darkly over Alexandria.

Resolve No. 2 That the most essential part of the British constitution is the fundamental principle of the people being governed by no laws to which they have not given their consent by representatives freely chosen

Resolve No. 6 That taxation and representations are in their nature inseparable.

Resolve No. 7 That the powers claimed by the House of Commons (removed from impression of tenderness arising from personal intercourse) must if continued establish the most intolerable tyranny ever inflicted on mankind.

Resolve No .15. That the non-importation agreement be enforced and that no advance in prices should be tolerated. That no one should deal with any factor who disregards these regulations.

Resolve No. 22. That even if Boston is forced to submit, we will not.

These famous "Fairfax County Resolves" with which every school boy and girl of Alexandria should be familiar were written by George Mason of Gunston in Fairfax County, a citizen and voter at Alexandria where for many years he was one of the towns trustees. They embody much that was more fully expressed in the "Bill of Rights" which was presented by him at Williamsburg a few months later, and which Mr. Gladstone pronounced "the most clear and forceful exposition of the rights of man that has ever been promulgated."

Off For Honolulu

"All Aboard" For Honolulu, Audience

The finest ship of the United States Merchant Marine will carry the Columbian Players on their trip to Honolulu. The people attending "All Aboard on Wednesday and Thursday of this week at the Lyceum will have an opportunity to see how Alexandria boys and girls enjoy the Honolulu atmosphere. So vivid will be the portrayal of Hawaiian scenes that the audience will verily think they are some 7,000 miles away from Alexandria, and at the same time enjoying the cool refreshing air of the Lyceum which promises to be twenty degrees cooler than the Streets.

Norris Roland, directing the theatricals, and George Yaeger, in charge of the orchestral accompainment, have spared no efforts to present to the theater-loving people of this community a production of rare talent and of exhilarating entertainment. The affair, which is for a purely charitable purpose promises to be even a greater success than the "Columbian Revue of 1920", which scored such a hit last winter.

DECISION ON FATE OF IRISH PEACE CONFERENCE NEAR

London, July 18.—The next twenty-four hours will decide the fate of the Irish peace negotiations, it was generally admitted today.

There was a meeting of the cabinet this afternoon, when the Irish peace situation was canvassed.

Premier Lloyd George, who has been conferring at his country estate at Chequers over the week-end, returned to London during the morning. It was stated that the premier would appear in the House of Commons later in the day, but it was regarded as unlikely that he would have any definite statement to make regarding Ireland.

After a period of uncertainty as to whether Lloyd-George and de Valera would get together again this afternoon, it was announced at 2.30 o'clock that the Irish leader would confer with the premier at 4.15 o'clock.

A brief statement given out by the Sinn Fein chieftain regarding the policy he is following here was interpreted as meaning that he would refuse to meet Sir James Craig in London. De Valera is emphasizing his demand for unity and the necessity for having a single Irish spokesman in the London conferences.

"I have made no demand but the one I am entitled to make—that of self-determination for the Irish nation," said de Valera.

Great secrecy shrouded the informal conferences that were carried on during the week-end by the Irish unionists, the Republicans and the government officials. These were all held independent of each other for the purpose of arranging details of the course each faction will pursue during the next few days.

The treasury department has been ordered to prepare reports for Premier Lloyd Geoge bearing upon certain financial aspects of the proposed Irish settlement.

The terms were satisfactory to Tex Rickard and myself," said Kane.

JAPAN IS DIVIDED ON DISARMAMENT

Anglo-Saxon Domination Bugaboo, But Liberals Urge Fearlessness

CRISIS FOR JAPAN

Hesitation Over Discussion of Far Eastern Issues Stumbling Block—Pekin Rule Discredited.

Tokio, July 18.—Japan seeks today an empire divided on the great issues created by the summons of President Harding to a conference on disarmament and Far Eastern problems.

On one side, largely in the ranks of the bureaucrats, there is fear that the proposed conference will be dominated by the Anglo-Saxons and many result in strangling Japan's political and economic development in Asia.

On the other hand is a powerful liberal group which demands that Japan enter into the deliberations fearlessly, submitting her wants resolutely, combatting for them with confidence and not opposing just claims. Haggling and bickering, they insist, will ruin the cause of Japan.

Both camps agree that Japan is facing a crisis, requiring tact and largeness of vision. Many members of the privy council, according to the well-informed newspaper, Chugai Shogyo Ehimpo, are pessimistic about the conference; they contend that the proposal to discuss problems and policies of the Far East indicates co-operation between the United States and Great Britain in an attempt to settle international questions favorably for them, an indication of which was to be seen in the attitude of the English toward the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

The invitation to China to join in the conference, it is further urged, is additional evidence in support of the theory of a secret purpose on the part of the Anglo-Saxon nations in calling the conference. They argue that China doubtless will strive, with the support of England and America, for a settlement of questions in her favor, resulting in injury to Japanese interests in China. The councillors are quoted as saying:

"Japan should make participation conditional on the settlement of all questions between Japan and the United States, including opening the economic door of all territories in the Pacific to orientals."

The newspapers Jiji Shimpo and Nichi Nichi condemn the pessimists and urge Japan to go forward without hesitation and present her case to the world.

The choice of Japan's delegation for the Washington conference is exercising the press, which demands the ablest representatives. It has been suggested that Premier Takashi Hara should go, but it is believed that his lack of knowledge of the English language would disqualify him.

"The fate of the empire depends on the conference," says the Kokumin. "Japan should reject with resolution proposals impairing rights legimately secured and should secede from the conference if the situation so requires."

After expressing the opinion that the invitation to China is incomprehensible considering the disordered conditions in China, the newspaper says it seems probable that the United States, failing to curb Japan's activities at Paris, has sought a new opportunity in the form of a Pacific conference. The future world's markets, it says are China and Siberia and it is only natural that the United States will want to restrict the Japanese, who occupy a superior position there.

The Navy Department welcomes a conference on disarmament, which already has been advocated by Vice-Admiral Baron Kato, Minister of Marine.

Japan is not necessarily averse to a discussion of Far Eastern questions is very anxious for an explanation be forehand of these questions. It is considered likely that Japan will frame a list of the subjects it desires

TODAY'S THOUGHT There is no heroic poem in the world but is at bottom a biography, the life of a man; also it may be said, there is no life of a man, faithfully recorded, but is a heroic poem of its sort, rhymed or unrhymed.

Carlyle.

Street Improvement.

Some weeks ago we mentioned the fact that the opening of the new route to Washington would necessitate the improvement of certain of our streets. We pointed out that Patrick, Alfred, and Columbus streets should be so bettered that the automobile and truck traffic could be distributed among all three and thus relieve Washington street, which is now burdened with the entire volume. We also stated that if Alfred street were improved it would make a straight line through from Washington to Mt. Vernon.

We called the attention of the City Council to the matter, and suggested that they consult with the city engineer as to the best method of procedure. We ventured the assertion that the work could be started immediately and continued through the otherwise dull summer months.

We again emphasize the great importance of the speedy improvement of these streets, and ask the City Council what it has done, if anything, in the premises? If it has done nothing, what reason can it give for this seeming negligence? If it proposes to do nothing, then again, the citizens are entitled to know why not!

The Mountains.

In a comparison of the sea and the mountains, it is Emerson, we believe, who says of the former that it is the age-old enemy of man, cruel and relentless, treacherous and insatiable of appetite. While the mountains furnish to their children berries and fruits and life-giving water and shelter and companionship.

There are three symbols of the infinite in nature: The ocean, the mountains and the desert.

The mountains may be said to be the nearest to man of the three. They form a link between him and his Creator such as is afforded neither by the sea nor the desert. Resting their base upon the plain, where he pillows his head at night, or kneels in devotion at morn, they rear their head into the cold and starry ether, half-way to the heights of heaven.

Mountains are an antidote to the crosses and vexations of life. "High mountains are a feeling, but the hum of human cities torture." They speak a various language, it is true, to him who holds communion with them, in his love of Nature. But it is a language he always understands, and its message is one of human sympathy; whether in the springtime, when life is bourgeoning as well in the human heart; in summer when they offer the cloistered shade of dim, recessed cathedrals; in autumn, when the first mysterious whisperings of approaching dissolution are heard; or when they wear their snowy shrouds in the white silence of winter.

It was an ancient fallacy that the sea divided peoples. Rather did it render them neighbors and form the friendliest of highways. On the contrary, "mountains interposed, make enemies of nations who had else, like kindred drops, been mingled into one." They have ever been the barriers which halted religion, language, custom, even race itself. On this side the Celt, on the other the Saxon or the ruder Norseman.

Happy is the soil of Virginia; that has the friendly mountains to neighbor on the west, and the less friendly but still human sea on the east. And within easy reach of either the kindly valleys that blossom with orchard and garden the greater part of a hospitable year.

It is well for all of us to forget at times the tortured hum of human cities, as Byron calls it, and solace our leisured hours with either or both of these symbols of the infinite and the eternal.

GEN. PERSHING AT CAMP HUMPHREYS

General Pershing is paying a visit to Camp Humphreys today, and will make a general inspection of the camp.

200 of the D. C. N. G. arrived at the camp on Saturday, and will remain for several days for drill and instruction.

Letter From A. L. I. At Camp

The Alexandria Light Infantry arrived at Camp Meade, Md., Sunday, July 10, under the most unfavorable combination of sleeping arrangements, food light and falling weather that the writer has ever experienced in the army. However, they took the dose like a man, and the next morning, everything being righted, entered into the training with a vim. From reveille at 5:30 a. m. to "taps" at 11 p.m. the men have few minutes of leisure. From 7:30 to 8 a. a. m. physical drill by the regiment; 8 to 12, noon, machine gune drill; 1 to 3 p. m. pistol practice and 3 to 5 kitchens, and has the reputation for the finest mess in the regiment. All credit being due to its efficient mess sergeant, "Johnnie" Arnold and his corps of able cooks.

Last Wednesday at retreat a battallion parade was held before the governor of Virginia, in which M Company took part, and did well. Friday afternoon the regiment was marched three miles to another part of camp to witness an exhibition by the Tank Corps; but instead experienced a most severe electrical storm and a drenching that they will remember much longer. The present week the company is on the 'pistol and machine gun range—which greatly adds to the interest of the training. The men are working hard, with a splendid spirit, and deserve much credit for the standing they have taken in the regiment.

to bring up. A peculiar movement is under way to secure separation of the discussions on armaments and Far Eastern problems.

Pekin, July 18.—The Constitutionalist Government, headed by Dr. Sun Yat Sen, has instructed its representative in Washington, Mr. Ma Soo, to inform the American Government that the Pekin administration no longer is capable of representing China and that therefore it is not qualified to send a delegation to the Far Eastern conference. The instructions intimate that the Canton government expects to have representation in the conference.

The instructions assert that the Pekin government is bankrupt and politically deserted. Moreover, it says, the Chinese are demanding withdrawal of recognition of the "Pekin militarists" by foreign governments.

GIRL DEAD, SECOND DYING, VICTIMS OF AUTO LURE

Pittsburgh, July 18.—Both 18 year old Anna Mishock, shot to death yesterday, and 14 year old Clara Bell Lennox, found Friday evening disrobed and unconscious in a woods four miles from Newcastle, were victims of the automobile lure, according to police and detectives

Miss Mishock's body, with two bullet wounds, was found in an automobile in "Lovers' Lane," just off the Clairton road. Finley Kuskis, accused of the shooting, is in the South Side Hospital, this city, with a bullet wound in the stomach.

Miss Mishock's home was in Large, and she was employed in the McKeesport Hospital. Kuskis, not only took Miss Mishock home in the automobile each evening, but the two frequest made short pleasure trips in the young man's car. What happened on the last automobile ride taken by the girl may never be known, as Kuskis refuses to talk. The conjecture of the detectives is that Miss Mishock and her companion, had a violent quarrel, then the tragedy.

Clara Belle Lennox victim of an attack supposedly committed last Thursday afternoon, was reported this evening as near death in the Shenango Valley Hospital, New Castle, where she was taken unconscious.

Thegirl, who had been divested of all clothing, save one shoe and one stocking, had been struck on the head with some blunt instrument, the blow fracturing the skull and forcing one eye from the socket.

Miss Lennox was fond of motoring, and, according to the police, she was seen last Thursday in a small roadster with two strange men. The generally accepted theory is that the girl vielded to an urgent invitation to take a ride in the roadster, that when the men later beat her on the head to subdue her they believed they had killed her and fled.

HUSBAND'S RELIGION SPURS SPOUSE TO FLEE WITH WIFE DESERTER.

Rutherford, N. J., July 18.—The weird rites of his religion drove Mrs. Clark Duryea to abandon her husband, preacher of the Holiness cult, at Monticello, N. Y., and elope with Earl van Noy, who also left his wife. As for Van Noy, there was "too much mother-in-law" in his family scheme at Monticello for further endurance, he said. The couple were discovered here today, with Mrs. Duryea's young son, living in a boarding house.

Patrolman Joseph Brobowskie had been reading the newspaper accounts of the sensational elopement, and the pictures of the woman had become imprinted on his detective mind. So, when he chanced to see Mrs. Duryea, he said, he recognized her at once. Brobowskie said they admitted their identity, Van Noy explaining that they had "nothing to hide."

"If any charge should be trumped up against us, we are ready to go back to Monticello and face it," Van Noy told the policeman.

GREAT NEWS FROM EUROPE

NAPOLEON, in an address to his soldiers, intimates his aversion of pursuing the Russians to their "frightful climate."

On the 11th May, (last date) the French Emperor's headquarters were at Dresden, about 50 English miles from the scene of the great battle, where NAPOLEON had tarried two or three days.

The EMPEROR ALEXANDER and the KING OF PRUSSIA, who had arrived at Dresden with all their forces, in the last days of April, learning that the French army had debouched from Thuringia, adopted the plan of giving battle to it in the plains of Lutzen, and put themselves in march to occupy the position.

BATTLE OF LUTZEN

At the same time the enemy redoubled his efforts against the centre; the village of Kaia was again carried; some battalions dispersed; but these brave young men, in sight of the emperor, rallied, shouting "LONG LIVE THE EMPEROR!"

His majesty judged that the critial moment, which decided the gain or loss of battles, had arrived; not a moment was to be lost. The EMPEROR ordered the Duke of Treviso, (Mortier) to overthrow the enemy and retake the village.

.....The fire became frightful. The enemy gave way on every side. The Duke carried the village without striking a blow, and continued to advance. The enemy's cavalry, infantry and artillery all commenced their retreat.... The enemy no longer thought of anything but flight; we pursued them a league and a half.

At the commencement of the battle, the EMPEROR said to the troops: "This is a true Egyptian battle. Good infantry, supported by artillery, ought to suffice." .... The Prince of Hesse-Homberk was killed. The prisoners state that the Prince Royal of Prussia was wounded, and that the Prince of Mecklenburg-Strelitz was killed.

The ambulatory hospitals and the field of battle presented a most touching spectacle. The young soldiers, at sight of the Emperor, forgot their pains and shouted, "Long Live The Emperor!"—"It is now twenty years," said the Emperor, "since I have commanded French Armies; never before have I seen such bravery and such attachment!" New York, July 17.—Christian Science churches did not officially observe the centenary of Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy's birth here today, according to advices from the various churches.

Mrs. Eddy was born 100 years ago yesterday. The reason given for non-observance was said to be the belief that she disapproved of the commemoration of birthdays.

Physiological Action of Tanlac Explained

World's Leading Authorities Show Just What Tanlac Really is and Explain Effect of Each of Ten Ingredients on the Human System. Power of Medicine Conclusively Proven.

A day never passes but what thousands of people ask the question: What is Tanlac? Why its phenomenal success? Why do we hear so much about it? and Why has this preparation so far out-stripped all other medicines of its kind?

The answer to these questions is easy and can be explained in just one word—merit. Tanlac is scientifically compounded and represents years of work, study, experimentation and research by some of the foremost chemists and pharmacologists of Amrica.

The Tanlac formula is purely ethical and complies with all National and State pure food laws. It is purely vegetable and is made from the most beneficial roots, herbs and barks known to Materia Medica. The Tanlac Laboratories are among the largest and most modernly equipped in this country.

Ten Ingredients in Tanlac

Altogether, there are ten ingredients in Tanlac, each of which is of recognized therapeutic value.

In referring to one of the more important ingredients of Tanlac, the Encyclopedia Brittanica says:

"It has been the source of the most valuable tonic medicines that have ever been discovered."

In referring to other of the general tonic drugs contained in Tanlac, the 13th Edition of Potter's Therapeutics, a standard medical text-book, states that "they impart general tone and strength to the entire system, including all organs and tissues."

This same well-known authority in describing the physiological action of still another of the ingredients of Tanlac, which is of value in treating what is commonly known as a "run-down condition," uses the following expression:

"It is highly esteemed in loss of appetite during convalescence form acute diseases."

There are certain other elements in Tanlac which, because of their influence upon the appetite, digestion, assimilation and elmination, improve the nutrition and vital activity of all the tissues and organs of the body and produce that state of general tonicity which is called health.

The United States Dispensatory makes the following comment regarding another ingredient:

"It may be used in all cases of pure debility of the digestive organs or where a general tonic impression is required."

There are certain other ingredients described in the Dispensatory, and in other standard medical text-books, as having a beneficial action upon the organs of secretion, whose proper functioning results in a purification of the blood streams passing through them. In this manner, objectionable and poisonous ingredients of the blood are removed and the entire system invigorated and vitalized.

Tonic and Body Builder

Tanlac was designed primarily for the correction of disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels. At the same time, however, it is a powerful reconstructive tonic and body builder, for it naturally follows that any medicine that brings about proper assimilation of the food and the thorough elimination of the waste products must, therefore, have a far-reaching and most beneficial effect upon the entire system.

Tanlac is sold in Alexandria by Edgar Wanfield, Jr., and leading druggist everywhere.

MIND CAN DECIDE SEX OF CHILDREN, EXPERT ASSERTS

Paris, July 18.—Sex control is an established fact, according to Prof. F. Coue of Nancy, called the world's foremost exponent of auto-suggestion. He says:

"Not only can parents before birth determine the sex of their children, but they can also influence his future life and career by endowing him with the qualities they would most wish him to have.

"To do this all that is required is the same strength of determination and will power displayed by every one in the minor matters of life—by the bank clerk for instance, who forces himself on cold mornings to leave the comfortable warmth of his bed for the chilliness of a cold shower. As in his case the power of auto-suggestion is merely a matter of habit.

"If a mother wants a boy baby she must bend her will to that effect, repeating with absolute confidence thirty or forty times a day: 'My child will be a boy.'

"If she intends him to be a great soldier, for instance, she will insist on this fact to herself. She will visit art galleries and surround herself with beauty, and above all, she will think beautiful things.

"If she wants him to be an author she will read good books and always on opening or closing one tell herself: 'My son will one day write like that.' If he is to be an architect she will accustom her mind to order and perspective, paying attention to mechanical accuracy in everything she does.

"The same method of mind will follow if she wishs sto be the mother of a banker or financier ,but in addition she will devote an hour daily to the minute study of mathematics."

TODAY MARKS THE THIRD ANNIVERSARY OF BIG DRIVE FROM CHATEAU-THIERRY.

Today marks the third anniversary of the great allied drive from Chateau-Thierry line Soissons, where the Americans, British and French, advancing together against the Hun army, began the march eastward which ended on November 11, 1918, in complete victory for the forces under the command of Marshal Foch.

Americans will remember with pride the part played in that memorable attack by units of the A. E. F. for the First and Second Divisions troops who already had won imperishable fame by their exploits at Cantigny and Belleau Wood, were picked to represent this country in the drive that was to mean victory for allied arms and demoralization for the army of the Kaiser.

Except perhaps in isolated instances there will be no formal celebration of the beginning of the history-making drive. At least one place in Virginia, however, will have the tale brought of the American Legion, now on a tour in the interest of the disabled soldiers, many of whom were crippled or otherwise incapacitated in that same drive, speaks in Farmville tonight. Mr. Hollenga's speech will be appropriate to the occasion.

Mr. Hollenga, known as the "machine gun" of the American Legion, will conclude his tour of Virginia in about two weeks. He leaves Richmond at 2 o'clock this afternoon and speaks at Farmville at 8 o'clock tonight. Mr. Hollenga last night expressed himself as being very well satisfied with his Virginia tour.

STATE OPENS DRIVE TO SUPPRESS I. W. W.

Pierre, S. D., July 18.—Two murders charged to the I. W. W. in this State in the past forty-eight hours has started the whole legal machinery of the State at work to suppress the organization.

The departments of the State, sheriff and attorney general are being called upon by local authorities for assistance and a vigorous campaign against the members of the organization is under way. With rough treatment about three years ago this organization has kept out of the State until this year, but they are coming in numberrs again and another campaign will be put into effect.

SAYS HE HAS CANCER CURE.

Paris, July 18.—Dr. Caudier, of the French Academy of Medicine, announces he has discovered a new cure for cancer which is a success. The new treatment consists of injecting under the skin of the patient a serum made of his own blood, obtained the night before.

This serum, modified by coagulation contains substances which, when introduced into the system strengthens its defense against cancer and aids it in ridding itself of tumors, according to Dr. Caudier.

THIEVES ACTIVE ON LINERS.

New York, July 17.—A society burglar is baffling the most astute steamship detectives. On the last trip of the White Star liner Olympic, Joseph L. Seligman, millianaire clubman and banker, was robbed of $25,000 in jewels belonging to his wife. A short time ago $41,375 worth of gems was stolen from Isaac Mann, a jeweler, on the Aquitania. Mrs. Trumbull, of New York, also on the last trip of the Olympic.

The theory of the detectives is that the burglars have entree to society circles, dress the part and ply their trade without suspicion.

SPORTS

The Alexandria Torpedo Station Baseball Team was defeated Saturday afternoon at Del Ray, Arlington County by the Del Ray A. C. by the score of 17 to 5. The all day holiday on Saturday didn't agree with the A. T. S. team. All the players are in hopes that the holiday next Saturday won't have the same effect on them. The batteries for A. T. S. were Wakefield, Anderson and Tulloch, for D. A. C. Butler and Johnson, Jones.

The A. T. S. missed their old friend "Gorgie" but are glad to say he will be with them every Saturday and Sunday from now on. Anderson took the mound in the last half of the second in place of Wakefield, striking out five men and scoring two of the five runs, when Butler for the D. A. C., had eight strike outs to his credit and scoring four of the seventeen runs which was one more than any one other player scored on the team. Next Saturday the A. T. S. will play the speedway A. C. of Washington on N. A'fred street diamond, game to start at 3 p. m., sharp The battery for the A. T. S. are likely to be Jongensen and Tulloch, and next Sunday the A. T. S., will journey to Congress Heights D. C. and play the Naval Air Station game to start at 3.00 p. m.

The Dreadnaughts added two more wins to their list by defeating the Langdon A. C. Saturday 13 to 4, and the Maccabees yesterday, 17 to 0. The visiting teams offered practically no opposition to the D's and they hit and scored at will. Alexander pitched Saturday and was in his usual form the visitors being unable to touch him when hits meant runs. Frye made the Maccabees look foolish yesterday as they only garnered three hits off his delivery and not a man reached third until the ninth and he was out at the plate when he attempted to score on an infield hit. When you consider this team is in the runnerup position in the fraternal League you will admit they took some lacing yesterday at the hands of the D's. We regret the visiting teams are offering poor opposition but it is just a matter of stage fright with them or they are just out of their class and when the first couple of runs are scored against them they are through. Next Sunday the D's play the Metropolitan A. C. composed of high school and college players and as they have defeated the Knicks and other string teams this year we are sure they will offer you a different brand of baseball than that of the past two weeks.

crossed the water in ample volume at all times."

The majority in its report stated that "the conclusion seems unavoidable that upon our entering the war and for many months thereafter the primary motive of the Administration was not to do everything possible to help win the war with the Allies and against Germany," but "rather does the predominant purpose of the Administration seem to have been to look to the future of the United States apart from the Allies in case the latter might be defeated or in case a 'peace without victory' might be made." The majority declared further that "we are forced to conclude that our naval unpreparedness, although great, was not the principal reason that delayed action by the United States naval forces, as inability the facts force the conclusion that the principal cause of their delay was the self-defensive, non-aggressive, non-helpful policy imposed on the navy by the Administration through Secretary Daniels."

TOURISTS LANDED SAFELY FROM STRANDED STEAMBOAT.

Ogdenburgh, N. Y., July 18.—A small boat connected with land by a heavy cable hauled 329 tourist passengers through raging waters of the St. Lawrence to safety today from the steamer Rapids King, of the Canada Steamship line, which went on the rocks Saturday in the Long Sault rapids.

The cable was attached to the tiny craft because it was feared that if the boat were turned loose, or even had a larger boat been used, the churning waters would have swept it away.

After the passengers were landed makeshift repairs were made upon the vessel, which had broken her rudder chain before being dashed against the rocks. The vessel later proceeded down stream under her own power.

300,000 AT LONG BEACH GASP AS VENUS COMES OUT OF SEA.

New York, July 18.—It cost Venus $25 today to rise from the sea at Long Beach, and it almost cost many of the 300,000 who visited that resort their sight.

The attempt of the bold goddess to a come-back in these days of Volstead acts, "blue laws" and beach censors was staged at the height of the bathing hour. The reincarnation of Aphrodite was Miss Edna Wheaton, a guest of one of the hotels. She went into the water wrapped in a cloaklike garment, tossed it to a companion and dived. Up to this time no one had paid any attention to her.

In a few minutes no one was paying attention to anything else. Miss Wheaton waded in out of the deep water and only those to her realized she was wearing anything at all. At a distance of 50 feet and more the apparition appeared to be a young woman becomingly attired in nothing.

It appeared thus to Patrolman Monahan, who was about 100 yards away, and he scattered gasping women and pop-eyed men out of his way as he dashed to the water's edge. A close-up revealed that the bather was wearing a one-piece flesh-colored bathing suit that did not do a thing to conceal or diminish the dimple in her chin. The policeman stood in front of her, making ineffectual sounds in his throat while she posed gracefully, waiting to see what would happen next.

When he recovered his speech the policeman informed the bather that she was under arrest for indecent exposure, disorderly conduct, impersonating a fish, obstructing traffic and about every other crime he could think of. She laughed, donned the discarded cloak, went to a bathhouse, dressed and then walked to the office of Justice of the Peace Neu, where she cheerfully paid a fine of $25 for her short but exciting appearance.

They say the magistrates and constables are imposing upon their good nature in assessing what they consider exorbitant fines, costs and fees.

20,000,000 NEAR DEATH IN RUSSIA.

Berlin, Saturday, July 16.—Twenty million persons are on the verge of starvation in drought-stricken sections of Russia, subsisting mainly on moss, grass and the bark of trees, according to the Vossische Zeitung, which quotes information from "reliable Russian sources."

Refugees are reported to be pouring into Moscow and Petrograd by thousands and to be fleeing hopelessly in every direction.

The parched earth, it is asserted, is opening up great crevices, and wells and rivers are drying up. Foliage has withered on the trees and a number of villages are reported on fire.

All cattle in the stricken districts have been slaughtered to provide food, but it is believed impossible to avert a catastrophe unless food is received from outside sources.

Riga, Letvia, July 17.—A plague of locusts is adding to the famine in Russia, according to a dispatch received here from Moscow. A swarm of the insects has greatly damaged crops in the Kuban and Black Sea governments, where special staffs have been organized and part of the army mobilized to destroy the pests.

In Turkestan heavy rains have destroyed the irrigation works, interrupting rail communication. The government has appealed to Moscow for aid.

CHEW GETS 7 YEARS ON MANY CHARGES.

New York, July 17.—Seven years at hard labor and dismissal from the army was the sentence imposed Saturday on Capt. Beverley Grayson Chew by a courtmartial at Governors Island, Hi. defenses of insanity failed.

The courtmartial, which has lasted several weeks, tried Chew on fifty-one charges of conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman.

Mrs. Chew was indicted with her husband last December by a federal grand jury in Washington, D. C. She has appeared in motion pictures under the name of Jean H. Sothern. Jean Sothern, the movie star, appeared at the courtmartial to clear up the embarassment caused by the similarity of names.

MEDICAL COLLEGE AT UNIVERSITY.

Charlottesville, Va., July 17.—The proposed consolidation and removal of the medical department of the University of Virginia with the Medical College of Virginia at Richmond is attracting considerable attention and interest not only in the state but throughout the country.

The following editorial which appeared in the New York Sun, July 13, is an expression of opinion from an unbiased source and is therefore worthy of consideration.

Rending Jefferson's University.

"Ten years ago informed opinion inclined to the view that medical education should be centered in the larger cities, where clinical facilities abound. Today it is almost universally recognized that the proper place for the medical school is upon the campus of the university, even when the university is situated far from the great centres of population.

"For this exchange of sentiment there are various reasons. We know now that it is quite possible to secure, even in small towns, clinical work adequate to the most thorough instruction. This has been demonstrated by the splendid medical schools of the universities of Michigan and Iowa. We know that celebrataed doctors and surgeons often do not make the best instructors: We know that the man who devotes most of his time to his practice cannot give his best efforts to his students; we know that the esprit that thrives only upon the university campus is an asset not lightly to be sacrificed.

"The proposal to remove the medical school of the University of Virginia to Richmond would seem, then, to be a matter of very doubtful wisdom, a step backward. Founded by Thomas Jefferson a century ago, this school has made a splendid record, giving to the nation and to humanity a long list of able investigators and practitioners, a list headed by the immortal Walter Reed. It is easy to tear down but most difficult to reconstruct. Virginia has one of the foremost medical schools in the country; it would be exceedingly well advised to let well enough alone."
